PROPOSAL DEADLINE: February 28, 2019

INTRODUCTION:

United States Soybean Export Council (USSEC) requests proposals for a Media Campaign for Protein Deficiency in Asia Subcontinent with an initial year one focus on India

Through a global network of international offices and strong support in the U.S., USSEC helps build a preference for U.S. soybeans and soybean products, advocates for the use of soy in feed, aquaculture and human consumption, promotes the benefits of soy use through education and connect industry leaders through a robust membership program.

PURPOSE OF RFP:

USSEC's standard practice is to RFP every 3 years in an openly and competitive manner. This type of cost analysis will assist in determining the fair market value for the work to be performed and allows USSEC the opportunity to evaluate various proposals and select the best contractor for the job based on experience, availability, expertise, approach, and cost.

The purpose of this RFP is to seek proposals for a Media Campaign for Protein Deficiency in Asia Subcontinent.

Protein deficiency in the vast majority of the Priority Basic Markets and other Basic Markets is evident and a subject of national importance. In India it is estimated that 73% of the population is protein deficient for example. By working with the trade, local associations, governments and other influential groups, finding ways to overcome this by engaging people in the judicial use of soy and U.S. soy is a key component driving the overall strategy to engage the value chain in the process ultimately improving the protein deficiency statistics. USSEC will engage a Communications contractor in India to assist in the development of a comprehensive protein enrichment demand pull plan. The vision of this plan will involve key decision makers in both the private and public sectors, as well as key influencer groups who can help shape a message that clearly demonstrates the devastating impact protein deficiency is having on a very large population, and how inclusion of Soy into more and more sectors can help overcome this deficiency over time.

Contractor shall promote the use and awareness of the need to overcome protein deficiency in India and how soy in general and U.S. soy specifically can contribute to the mitigation of same.

Contractor will begin initial work with USSEC to establish a methodology or approach for the overall strategy helping build coalitions, branded marketing materials, stakeholder meetings, and a roll out meeting representing results and next steps. The program must demonstrate the challenges associated with protein deficiencies and how a coalition can be formed with private sector, public sector, and NGOs charged with setting measureable goals to help address the challenges and move India away from this situation.

Contractor will coordinate, manage and lead an in-person meeting(s) and(or) webinar with the Senior Director and key Indian contractors/employees and selected members of the coalition to team kick-off the project, initiate collaboration with the team, share the path forward and become familiar with USSEC's existing research, market structure, organizational challenges, and other critical background information.

BACKGROUND & PURPOSE OF PROJECT:

The Context 2.0 I.M Strategy report recommends increasing investment in "Basic" markets. The reports provided the macroeconomic indicators suggesting which Basic markets to pursue. Since the U.S Soy farmers provided direction to pursue Basic markets, additional program design is required to meet the unique needs of each market and the various focus areas within each country.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Basic Markets (specifically Asia Subcontinent: India, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, and Pakistan)

SCOPE (SERVICES) OF WORK:

Under this contract, the Contractor shall promote the use and awareness of U.S. soybeans and soybean products through the following services:

Design and conduct a communications campaign, which will provide tools and direction for USSEC to better understand how to build and implement our plans, in order to mitigate protein deficiencies as part of our protein pull program.

For successful completion of the communications campaign, the contractor:

- Will have an understanding and knowledge gained from USSEC’s Readiness Assessments in order to incorporate findings.
- Conduct a brain-storming session with stakeholders to make sure we are taking into account as many voices as possible.
- Identify the communication channels in ASC which will help target at least 70% of the audiences in each country.
- Obtain pre-campaign feedback from survey’s conducted on their protein status.
- Will develop a communications campaign including media content/design in print and electronic to be approved by USSEC.
- Will launch the content/media in TV, print, websites, etc. approved by USSEC.
- Conduct press meetings in important cities within the ASC region.
- Obtain post-campaign feedback from survey’s conducted on their protein status.
- Detailed report/evaluation of the campaign with recommendations on next steps.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION AND BACKGROUND

BUILDING A PREFERENCE FOR U.S. SOY

USSEC's strategy can be found here: <http://ussec.org/about-ussec/vision-mission/>

USB's Long Range Strategic Plan can be found here: <http://unitedsoybean.org/about-usb/strategic-planning/>

We are a dynamic partnership of key stakeholders representing soybean producers, commodity shippers, merchandisers, allied agribusiness and agricultural organizations.

Through a global network of international offices and strong support in the U.S., we help build a preference for U.S. soybeans and soybean products, advocate for the use of soy in feed, aquaculture and human consumption, promote the benefits of soy use through education and connect industry leaders through a robust membership program.

Our 15-member board of directors is comprised of four members from the American Soybean Association (ASA), four members from the United Soybean Board (USB), and seven members representing trade, allied industry, and state organizations.

New board members are seated annually. We are receiving funding from a variety of sources including soy producer checkoff dollars invested by the USB and various state soybean councils; cooperating industry; and the American Soybean Association's investment of cost-share funding provided by the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Foreign Agriculture Service.

The United Soybean Board, created by the 1990 Farm Bill to manage and direct the National Soybean Checkoff, is dedicated to marketing and research for the soybean industry. USB is comprised of 73 volunteer soybean farmers representing the interests of fellow growers nationwide. Each board member is nominated by Qualified State Soybean Boards (QSSBs) and appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Because of the limitations on administrative and salary costs established in the Act, USB outsources the majority of its program management responsibilities to USB's three primary contractors:

- SmithBucklin-St. Louis for domestic marketing, new uses, production research and Board initiative activities;
- Osborn & Barr Communications for communications/public relations activities and;
- United States Soybean Export Council (USSEC) for international marketing and global opportunities activities.

As one of these three primary contractors USSEC may also undertake initiative activities on behalf of USB. USB considers primary contractor staff (approximately 60 people) as core USB staff. These three primary contractors use a number of subcontractors and, together, these entities carry out approximately 450 projects each year for USB. USB also manages approximately 10 subcontractors.
